

Summer 2016

A more refreshing approach to recruitment

About Us

We like to do things a little differently...

What began as an anagram for "employment" has today become the UK's fastest growing direct employer job board and our aim is to ensure your vacancy stands out from the crowd. Being "direct employer" mean's EmptyLemon is completely agency free. Cutting out the recruitment middle-man means hiring becomes a more streamlined, less costly process.

Job board advertising has become an essential part of recruitment, however it can be misused by third parties who advertise fake vacancies (CV bait) or post duplicate adverts. Genuine employers can spend hours compiling the perfect job description for it to become lost amongst the thousands of adverts found on most job sites.

We believe employers and jobseekers deserve the best possible recruitment experience - something which is both effective and efficient. That's why our focus is on candidate experience, application quality and employer brand awareness.
